Abstract

Reservation to International Treaties in the light of Public International Law Rules

Sameer Mohammad Tarawneh

Mu'tah University, 2013

This thesis aims at exploring the legal system of the reservation to International treaties in the light of Public international law Rules according to the concept of multilateral and partial treaties and the role of the international Law commission relating to this issue.

This study is also exploring the conditions of acceptance and objection of the reservation and clarifying the consequences of the acceptance or objection of the reservation according to Vienna convention of Law of treaties signed in 1969 and 1986.

This thesis is organized in five chapters, the first chapter provided the topic of the study, the importance of the study, its limitations, the methodology of the research and the previous studies, while the second chapter discuss the reservation concept and its definition. Whereas the third chapter deals with the formal and subjective conditions for Legal reservations, in the fourth chapter it focus on the Legal consequences of reservation to treaties in all different cases in acceptable reservations and unacceptable reservations.

Finally, the fifth chapter concluded the study and comprising the result and recommendations of the thesis.
